

CADA Conversations and the OLCDC invite to you a very special screening of Breathe in the Roots, a documentary produced and directed by Ethiopian artist, writer, photographer, Indrias Kassaye.

Location: The ARC 675 Ali Baba Ave

Date: Sunday, June 4, 2017

Time: 2:30pm-5:00 pm

This screening will be followed by lively and interactive art talk with Indrias Kassaye about the film moderated by META Curator, Ludlow Bailey.

Breathe in the Roots tells the story of Ty Christen Joseph, a young African American English teacher from Brooklyn, who goes on a spiritual journey of discovery by horseback after coming to Ethiopia, in part to discover more about his African ancestral heritage. The film tracks Chris's journey from Addis Ababa to Lalibela, one of Ethiopia's holiest pilgrimage sites, on horseback - documenting his once in a lifetime experiences and highlighting a side of Ethiopia many rarely get to experience.
